AN EXPLANATION

DEAR RELATIVES:— A few excuses and apologies may be in order. It has been very difficult to steal time from my farming duties, to work at the book; which accounts for the many years I have been at it; and in the limited odd times that I worked at it, much of the work was done winter evenings, I would hurry along and have used abrevations and figures often, where full words would look better.

I set the type by hand, and printed it on a small hand press, one page^m at a time; making over 30 000 impressions and 7500 sheets to fold once.

Now, as you can plainly see, it is the work of an amateur; I have never even been in a print shop to see how the work is done, So I hope you will all overlook the faults and mistakes, and kindly appreciate the good you find in it.

Sincerely Yours,

U, S. Moore.

THE OLD HOME, Built in the Summer of 1882. Where father and mother died.

William Moore.

William Moore, The subject of this chapter; was born in Northampton. Northampton County England. July the 16th 1812.

His fathers name was Samuell, and his mothers name was Sarah (Beach) Moore. his grandfathers name was John Moore. his maternal grandparents were George and Mary Beach. He was next to the oldest of twelve children.

In 1830. when he was eighteen years old, he emigrated with his parents, to America. landing in New York. after a long, tedious journey across the ocean in a sailing vessel. They then traveled by boat, up the Erie Canal, to Utica, Oneida County, N. Y.

Arriving at Utica. William soon found employment in the silk mills at that place, where he worked for some time. But this kind of work did not long suit this strong, hardy young man, he longed to see more of this great country, to which he had come for liberty, and to gain a home of his own. he wished to try his fortune farther west.

Accordingly about two years after they settled in Utica, he determined to go as far west as Michigan, and bidding his parents, and brothers and sisters, farewell, and taking an ax (which he carried all the way to Michigan), and a small bundle, started out on foot and alone, and walked to Dearborn, Wayne County, Michigan.

There he soon found work in a brick-yard, at eight dollars a month, which was considered good wages. but on account of his dexterity in moulding brick, and his industrious habits, always doing as much as he could during working hours, and working to his employers intrests, he was paid the highest wages. and found it easy to hold a job, or obtain work at any time. He used to say "There is always plenty of work for those that are willing to work honestly, and to their employers intrests."

He worked in the brick-yard about one year, when he obtained work at better wages, logging, and hauling logs to a saw-mill, for Captain Howard, who owned and operated a large saw-mill in Dearborn.

He remained with Captain Howard, for about two years, working early and late, and in all kinds of weather, He hauled Rail Road ties from the saw-mill. He hauled the first load of ties for the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, R. R. then being built across the state from Detroit to Lake Michigan.

During the three years he has been in Michigan, he has saved enough money to buy three forty acre pieces, of government land, near Pinkney, Livingston County, Michigan, where he afterward made a home.

There was another man in Captain Howards employ, by the name of, John Bennett, who lives in one of his houses near by, and boards some of his working men. Mr. Bennett, has some lovely daughters, one especially, Miss. Hattie, whom William learns to love, and is loved by her in return. for when he asks her to be his wife he meets with no opposition from the maiden herself, or her parents. and the happy day is named. We will leave him now, - in this blissful state, - until his wedding day. And we will go back and see what has become of his parents and the rest of the family.

His parents, after living in Utica, about four years, moved to Syracuse, N. Y one Spring, and the next Autumn, they moved from there to Wayne County, Mich. where his father worked for Captain Howard. for awhile. and then made a home on one of the forty acre pieces of land William had bought and built a log house thereon for him. where he lived until he died, in 1862.

He was a small man, and always walked with a cane. Williams mother, was a large woman, dark complected, and rather loud spoken. she died in 1860.

Of his brothers and sisters, Mary, was the oldest. She was married in England, to a man by the name of Lake. They came to America about twenty years after her parents did and settled at Utica, N: Y. They had some children, one girl was born in 1825. That is about all the information we have been able to gain of them.

Lydia; (the sister next younger than William.) died in Utica, about six months after they came there.

Another sister, Martha was married in Utica. to Jacob S. Roe. a widower, who had a family of four children, two boys of them are now living in California. She came to Michigan, with her husband, before her parents. and after a time they moved to Wisconsin. where they lived about twelve years. Then in 1849, they went by waggon train, overland, to California and settled in Stanislaw County, on a farm. he died in 1860.

and Martha died in 1866. One child, a girl, was born to them in Utica, N. Y. she now lives in California.

Hannah, the youngest sister, was married in Michigan to John Fowler two children were born to them. Hannah died in Livingston County, Michigan. when about thirty years old.

John, married a Miss. Doratha Van Blarican. one boy and one girl were born to them. The boy died in July 1857. The girl, Lydia Ann, married a man in N. Y. John died in Michigan. Doratha afterward lived in An Arbor, Mich.

THOMAS MOORE. was married in N. Y. He went from there to Iowa. and from there to Minnesota. where he lived for a time, and moved to California, and from there to Yakima, Yakima County, Washington, where he died. They had three sons and three daughters, Charles, George, and William. Mary, who married Charles Sherwood, in Minnesota. Hulda, who married a Mr. Copps. and lives at North Yakima, Washington.

Harriett (Bennet) Moore.

Harriett Bennett, Was born at Ipswich, Suffolk County, England. On the 11th. of December. 1819. When a little girl, she lived with her Uncle Charles Bennett. He taught her the letters of the alphabet, and was very fond of her. Finally he moved to London, and died there with the small-pox.

Harriet went to school and learned very fast, her Sunday-school teacher gave her a pair of scissors for learning to platt straw. She also went to a knitting school for the benefit of the poor, where she learned to do all kinds of knitting, she could knit very rapidly.

Harriett was eleven years old when she left England with her parents for America. They drove from home to London sixty miles in a waggon. Then had to wait three days for a ship to sail.

While waiting there, some people wanted to get Harriett, to keep. They offered a large sum of money for her, but her parents would not part with her.

They went on board the ship, the 14th, day of May. 1830. And was six weeks and three days crossing the ocean, the first three days were fine weather. There were two bad storms during the voyage across the ocean.

They landed at Qubec, June, 28. And the Cholera, was raging there, and the ship was not allowed to land for three days. When it did land, they took a boat and went to Montreal, and cholera was also raging there. They tried to rent an empty house there was there, but was told that three families had died in that house from cholera. So they bought cloth and made a tent, and lived in it six weeks, on the bank of a canal. During which time as many as five hundred had died from cholera in one day.

This was in June and July, and it was so hot that the girls necks and arms blistered in the sun. They wore low-neck, and short sleeve dresses then.

On August, 17th, 1830. They left Montreal, by boat for Hamilton, Wentworth County Ontario. While on the way, their little son Wm. Henry. died. Age, about two years. The boat stoped at Kingston. long enough for them to carry him on shore, and get some one to burry him.

On arriving at Hamilton, they, with several other families, rented a large barn and staid there all together, till they could find a place to live.

While they were staying in the barn, a man by the name of Flocks. a german. Came and hired Harriett, to go and take care of their baby. And while she was there, her parents moved away, and she did not know anything about them for eight months, when her father came after her, and she walked home with him, twenty miles away, to a place in Canada, about five miles from Hamilton. After a time she went back to Flocks and worked for them one year.

Harriett then went with her parents to Chatham, Bothwell County, Ontario. Where she was working when an incident happened that she has often related.

There were a great many Indians there, and one day a squaw came to the house, with her papoose hanging on her back, tied to a beard. She sat it down outside, and came in the house, and while she was talking, an old sow came and got the papoose, and draged it under an old house. The squaw ran screaming back to the Innian village and told the other Indians. And they came and shot the old sow with their bows till she was full of arrows.

Harriett next moved with her parents, to Sandwich, Essex County, Ontario. Where she worked at a hotel, for some time.

From there her parents moved around from place to place, until they came to Deaborn, Wayne Cuntly, Michigan. Where her father worked for Captain Howard. And lived in one of his houses and boarded some of the men who worked in the saw-mill. Harriett being at home at this time, she became acquainted with William Moore, whom she favored until he was encouraged to ask her to be his wife. And as their love was mutual, she granted his request. Though there were others who sought earnestly to win her. She is very happy now, and we will leave her now, to prepare for the wedding, while we go back to England, and trace her parents.

Her father, JOHN BENNETT, was born at Uppinghal, England. March, 14th. _____ and was christened there in the Methodist Church.

He had three brothers, Charles, James, and Samuell. Charles died in London, before John came to America. James died about the time John settled in Michigan. And Samuel lived a few years more. He had a son Samuel, who corresponded with his Uncle John, for several years.

John Bennett's parents died before he came to America John Bennett, and Mary Ann Brown, was married in 1813. She was born at Ipswich, England, on Easter Sunday, 1795. And was christened there at the Baptist Church.

The writer was told that she was one of twenty brothers and sisters? who all grew up and were married. But of the history of the others we know nothing.

William Moore, and Harriett Bennett were married on the eighth day of May, 1838. at the brides parents, near Dearborn. Michigan. by a Justice of the Peace.

About a week after they were married, they moved into their new home: a double log house 12 x 24 feet, divided into two rooms, with a large chimney in the center and a fire-place on each side, making one in each room.

William had built this house before they were married on the land he had previously bought, about two miles from Pinkney, Livingston County, Michigan.

He made most of their furniture in a rude way, for it had taken most of his money to pay for his land, and build a home, and furnish it.

They did not have things very grand, did not dress very stylish, or set a very expensive table. For at that time flour cost them eight dollars a barrel. Calico twenty-five to fifty cents a yard, and a spool of thread cost eighteen cents, and other things in proportion, wages and price of grain and stock, was very low. So they must be contented with the plain necessaries of life. And it will be seen that their progress to fortune must be very slow.

But William spent no idle time, he began to till the ground, get stock on the place, and improve his farm and home, often working during the day for wages, and doing a great deal of work at home mornings and evenings.

On March 30, 1840. their first child was born, they are now comfortably fixed in their new home and William is preparing to build a large barn, there was a large Tamrac swamp on his land, in which stood the most beautiful trees for hewing into square timbers, or for sawing into lumber, and there he could have been found working early and late, getting out timbers and logs,

One night he had worked later than usual and on his way home, he met a black bear in the path, which did not want to turn aside for him, he had no weapons with him except a heavy four-tined fork, this he presented, tines foremost, and the bear, not liking such effrontry, turned and skulked off into the woods. William then proceeded on his way home.

The barn when completed was 40 X 60 feet. with a very heavy stone foundation, and a large under-ground stable. The barn had large mows in either end in which he placed his wheat, and threshed it with a flail. on the barn floor Often in the long winter evenings, after doing a hard days work, he would go out into the barn and pound out wheat.

He also built two large cattle sheds 12 X 50 feet each. They then purchased another piece of land containing eighty acres. This was timber land in what was called white oak openings and was not hard to clear up. All the land there was more or less stony, so that the stone had to be gathered up and hauled off the farming land.

William is now making preparations for building a new house, and we will again find him among the Tamrac trees, chopping, hewing, or hauling logs to the saw mill to be cut into lumber for the new house. He had raved and shaved enough shingles from red oak, to shingle the house, and had laid them away to season, and when he came to use them they were so hard he had to bore a tiny hole for each nail.

He cut one tamrac tree that made one plate for the house 36 feet long, 6x6, one studing 20 feet long, 4x4, and one rafter 14 feet long 2x4 making 70 feet from one tree.

The size of the house was 24 x 36 feet. He got out all the timbers, framed the building, and completed the house, all with his own hands.

They worked a farm one year for Stansbury, who lived at Pinkney. William used to do lots of work for him, also for Dr. Stansbury. He also worked a great deal for Mr. Kirtland, who owned and operated a flouring mill in Pinkney, doing carpenter work about the mill.

Grandfather and grandmother Moore, and grandfather and grandmother Bennett, lived not many miles apart, and the older children used to go often to see them where they lived in their log houses, on their little farms.

About the spring of 1849 they moved into their new house, and lived there that summer, and the next winter they sold the farm.

And in the spring of 1850, they packed their household goods into two heavy wagons, and with their family of five children, started for the "far west".

They traveled west to Chicago, and from there across the state of Illinois, and crossed the Mississippi river at Keokuk, into the Territory of Iowa, and traveled as far as Iowa City, and came back and recrossed the Mississippi river at Davenport and Rock Island, and traveled South East into Henry Co. Illinois. and bought a piece of Government land lying about 12 miles North of Wethersfield, Here they built a small log house, and had lived in it but a few days, when it caught fire and burned down, together with most of the household goods and some money.

A few days before they moved into the house a girl — Sarah J. — was born, and the mother and child being so exposed in taking them from the burning house caused the death of the child a few days after.

They went to work and built another house and moved into it before winter set in.

Late in the Autum of 1851. they with four of the children, went, by wagon, back to the old home in Michigan, to visit their parents and relatives, getting back to Henry Co. sometime in the following Winter.

In the Summer of 1852, they sold out again and loaded all they had into one wagon, and started in search of a more suitable location for a home.

They traveled South-west and crossed the Mississippi river at Burlington, Iowa. and went across the corner of Iowa, down into Missouri about fifty miles, then turned and traveled North west to Charidon, Iowa. Not liking the country there, they turned back East, and crossed the Mississippi river again, at Fort Madison, Iowa. and traveled up the river to McQueen's Mill, Henderson County, Illinois. Arriving there Aug. the 9th. 1852.

On the 31st of March, 1853. William, and his brother Beach, walked to Quincy Illinois, a distance of 67 miles, William making the trip in one day, and was at the Land Office the next morning, and bought a tract of land that lay under Military Land Warrant, No. 22418. in the name of William Garner. and located in section six, in Township eight north, of range five west. Henderson County, Illinois.

William had just money enough to pay for the land, and buy a cow and a barrel of flour. then he had to hustle to make a living for a large family, which made it very difficult to get the farm in cultivation, and improved.

He had to work for very low wages, the first two years he only received fifty cents a day, except in harvest time, when he was paid seventy-five cents a day, he being an excellent hand at swinging the cradle. and scythe.

William was very expert at hewing timbers, and was employed at this work two winters in the Wisconsin pine regions, bringing a raft of logs and timbers, each spring, down the Mississippi river to Shokokon, for Horatio Curts. who owned a Lumber-yard there.

He done considerable work for Fred Curts, who lived one mile north of home, and for Joe Kirby, one mile south. Also for John Cooper, who lived three miles away. He built several buildings for them.

Meantime, he, and the boys, improved the farm as fast as they could, until the Cival War broke out, when the three older boys enlisted in the service of the Union. and he was compelled to be at home more closely, until the close of the war, then some of the boys worked the farm on shares.

In 1866 he made a trip overland, by wagon, down across Missouri, and Arkansas, and out in Texas Coming back across the Indian Teritory, and Missouri.

In 1874 he bought a small farm of fifty-five acres, then owned by Oliver Lyons, giving a mortgage on both farms to secure the debt. and a few years after, he sold forty acres off the east side of the home place, to G. W. Chandler.

The house they had been living in for many years, was getting very old and shakey, and it became necessary to have a new house. so in the Summer of 1882, he built a two story house, 28 x 30 feet square. (see Illustration) which cost considerable, and together with the other debts, and expenses, left a large indebtedness on the farm, which would take many years to pay.

He was then getting old, and after so many years of hardships, and hard labor, he could not stand exp sure like he used to, and while working on the farm one day, the weather became suddenly cold and stormy, and he took a severe cold which resulted in inflammation of the bladder, from which he suffered greatly. So much so that toward the last he prayed earnestly for death to come and relieve him of his pain.

Doctors were employed, but none of them could do him any permanent good, and on June the 3rd 1886. he was relieved of his suffering by death. He was laid to rest on the old homestead where he had labored so many years, by his own request, on a beautiful spot selected by himself, which is now nicely fenced and well cared for, and the flowers he loved blooming profusely there. A large monument stands by his grave with his profile deeply cut in the marble on one side and a Bible, his guide through life, lying on top.

Below his profile, is inscribed, a verse of his own selection, as follows:

It is pain and suffering, I did endure,
 I tried physicians, could receive no cure.
 At last on Jesus name I call,
 He came and put an end to all;
 My earthly sufferings here below,
 I said dear Lord I am ready to go.
 He took me in his arms of love.
 To dwell with him in heaven above.

A Tribute to Father.

William Moore: was a man small in stature, and had a very strong constitution, and worked very hard all his life. He was honest and honorable, in all his dealings with his fellow-men. His schooling was very limited, but he had a good store of common sense, and reasoning faculties.

He was a fair singer, and loved to play the Harp. He used to sing a great deal when at work. The Psalms, and Watt's hymns was his favorite sacred music.

He did not beleive in monopolies, trusts, unions, lodges, or sects. Politically, he was always a republican. A naturalized citizen. Was very fond of hunting with the rifle.

He was always very solicitous for the welfare of his children, helping them all he could, and more than he was able. Do not let us say, that father never helped us, he denied himself of many comforts to help us along, he worked very hard, much harder than any of us ever have, to provide a home for us;

'Spite of hail and driving rain,
 Storming on the window pain;
 While the wind its fury lent,
 Forth to duties call he went,
 With the vision in his mind,
 Of the home he leaves behind.

Noble is the common task,
 Higher work need no man ask!
 Whether skies were blue or gray,
 He pursued his tranquil way,
 With new hopes and cheerful tread,
 In his quest for daily bread.

Many times he would be up in the morning, and gone, before daylight, perhaps several miles away, to do a days work. And would often walk home again at night, to do some little chore to improve the home surroundings. He practised a great deal of economy, and selfdenial, in order to lay up something for "a rainy day". He had to struggle against the "draw-backs" of a new country. And, working under unfavorable conditions, and adverse circumstances, he succeeded well.

Let us all think kindly of father,
For he was kind to us;
He sought to lead us safely
Our life's brief pathway through;
He cared for us and loved us,
He tried to save us pain,
He gave us kindly counsel—
I hope not all in vain.

Mother.

When mother was married, of course she gave up her maiden name, and girlish pleasures, and entered at once upon the duties of life. She worked hard from the first, economizing and saving in every way she could to help along in the struggle for bread. She had none of the luxuries that goes to make life pleasant, she could never think of spending money for anything that was not a necessity. She often staid up late at night knitting or mending, for some member of the family, or knitting for some one else for the few pennies there was to be made by it.

We cannot realize what our mother has done for us in the past; the hard labor, the self denial, the anxious watching, the good examples and advise given us. How she tried to keep us from going astray, and to keep us ever in the "straight and narrow way" that leads to heaven; and if any of us miss the pearly gates, it will not be from any lack of her duty.

Alas! how little did we appreciate our mothers love; How heedless were we in youth of all her anxious tenderness while living! But when she is dead and gone. how hard it is to find true sympathy, how few will befriend us in misfortune. then it is that we miss and think of the mother we have lost.

If you have a gray-haired mother
 In the old home far away,
 Sit down and write the letter
 You put off day by day.
 Don't wait until her tired steps
 Reach heaven's pearly gate—
 But show her that you think of her
 Before it is too late.

While father was suffering so much with that painful bladder trouble. mother had so much work to do, and anxious care and watching, until father died. Then her life was very lonely; She and father had been companions for forty-eight years, and although she had the same old home and enough to live comfortably, she felt lonely without him. Her children were all married but one, with whom she lived till Sep. 12. 1892. She went, with her son, (Ulysses) to Nebraska, where she visited among her children, at different places, for three months, arriving home on her seventy-third birthday.

About Dec. 20. 1894. she went to Marseilles, Illinois, to visit her son Frank, where she stayed about two months.

Then about the first of Oct. 1897. she went back to the old home in Michigan Arriving there on the birthday of her only living sister, Elizabeth, who was greatly surprised and pleased to see her. She had a very pleasant visit there among her relatives, and old acquaintances, arriving home on her seventy-eighth birthday.

In November 1900. she went with her son Charles, to Centerville, Iowa where she visited about two weeks. This was the last trip she made on the cars.

On the 23rd of December, 1900. everything was covered with ice, and she slipped and fell and sprained her ankle, from which she suffered much.

In April 1901. seven of her children made her a visit at one time. Those present were: Mary, Edward, Lizzie, Frank, Elcia, Charlie and Ulysses. Then again on Thanksgiving day, same year, was prepared for her, a dinner, at which there were several of her children and fifteen grandchildren and several great-grand-children.

About the first of January she was taken with nervous chills, which weakened her so, that she failed very fast. Her eyesight failed too, til toward the last she could not see any of us to tell who we were. Then her lungs filled up so she could not speak. It was very sad when she tried to talk to us and we could not tell what she said. The last words she said plainly were "Raise my head up a little" and "Can't you raise my head up a little" and when we did so, "There that's better". And she quietly passed away to a Better Home, between eight and nine o'clock in the morning of February the 2nd. 1902.

When time is lost in endless day,

Dear mother!

When loved one's meet and part no more—

In purest light on boundless shore,

God will thy love and life repay—

Dear mother!

Wm H Moore.

William Henry Moore, the oldest of a family of twelve children, was born in Putman Township, Livingston County, Michigan. March 30. 1840. The first seven years of his life was spent in a log house where his parents lived, about one mile north of Pinkney, where he went to school a part of one winter.

He was with his parents in all their travels until they settled in Henderson County, Illinois, in 1852.

During the summer of 1853, he worked for the Smith Brothers, for $7 00 a month, and that winter attended the McQueens Mill school where Geo W. Conley was then teaching. The coming summer he helped his Uncle Beet Moore run a breaking team of three yoke of Oxen, and the next winter attended the Brooks school, taught by Sarah Davis. now Mrs J. Evans.

In the spring of 1855 he hired to Joe Carman for $15.00 per month where he worked for three years, attending school about two months each winter at the old Shokokon school.

In the year 1858 he worked the Carman farm on shares. and the next year he came home and worked his fathers farm on shares until August 1862 when he enlisted for services in the Civil War. his experience there will be given in his own words, in another part of this book.

When he returned home from the war he took up his old vocation of farming, and November 2nd. 1865. he married Miss Amelia M. Hargrove, who was born in Henderson Co. Ill. Jan. 26 1844

Her father, John M, Hargrove, was a Kentuckian, he was born Feb. 26. 1795. and died Nov. 25, 1844. Her mother was born July 15. 1804. in the old town of Kasskasca. Ill.

She was married four times, first to James Sutton, second to Col. Rezen Redman, third to John M. Hargrove, and last to Harvey Freeland her maiden name was Nancy P. Ebberman, she died Dec. 15. 1861.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore spent the first two years of their married life on his fathers farm, where their daughter Ella was born.

In the fall or 1867 they moved to Blackhawk Co. Iowa. and bought a quarter-section of land, and lived there until the fall of 1872. when they sold their farm and returned to Illinois where they rented a place and farmed three years on shares.

In the spring of 1876 they bought property in Carman and was engaged in the business of buying and shipping grain, until the Autumn of 1879 they emigrated by wagon to Furnace Co. Nebr. where they homesteaded a quarter-section of land and began improving it for a home.

They struggled along against the privations of a new country until the Spring of 1886 they sold their homestead and bought an eighty acre farm on the creek bottom, and lived there two years, and disposed of it and moved into the town of Wilsonville, where he worked in a repair shop for two years. In the summer of 1900 they bought town lots in Wilsonville and built a dwelling house thereon which afterwards they sold and moved to Orleans, Harlan Co. Neb. where they now live.

Their children have all gone out in world to make homes of their own. Their oldest child, Ella, was born August 11, 1866. She was noted for her singing from a child up, and was a very apt scholar, and began teaching school when only sixteen years old, and taught successfully five terms.

She was married August 26, 1886, to T. W. Timmins, who was born in Pottawatomie County Kansas, March 3rd 1863. he had two sisters, Jennie, and Emma, both older than himself, Jennie died when two years old. Emma. (Mrs. Eugene Hall,) died at Argyle, Wis. in 1883.

His father was a soldier in the Civil War and died at St Louis, Mo. on his way home on a Furlow in 1864. Mr. Timmins lived in Neb. Wis. S D. and Iowa, from 1879 until 1885. He has two brothers and two sisters by his mothers second marriage Lottie Pettis. (now Mrs. Geo Lewis, of Arapahoe, Neb.) Jessie Pettis. (now Mrs. Will Knapp, Blackwell, Okla.) and Irvin, and Winfield Pettis. both of Beaver City, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. Timmins now live at Orleans, Neb. where he is permanently located in the Harness and Saddlery business. They have four children, Harry, born Nov. 20. 1887. Homer. born Sep. 13 1892. Vaughn, born Aug 12. 1894 Beulah. born April 29 1899.

William E'sworth Moore, was born Feb. 1st 1868. in Blackhawk Co. Iowa. he was strong and healthy and a great worker, he began farming for his father when he was fourteen years old.

When about nineteen. he went in the harness shop and learned the trade under Mr. Wm. Timmins. Then he was with a Surveying party in the mountains of Colorado for two months. Then he came back and bought out the Dray line which he run very successfully for several years. Then he was engaged in the Hardware and Implement business for a number of years, and in the Autumn of 1901 he sold out and went to Omaha and engaged as a city salesman for a large furniture Co. He is now a traveling salesman.

On April, 24, 1894. he married Miss Ethel Minta Gibson, of Beaver City, Neb. She was born March 22 1875. she had two sisters and one brother. Grace, Winnie, and Raymond. Her parents are both living at Wilsonville, Neb. Ethel was a successfull school teacher and a fine musician. They have one child, Arthur Raymond, born August 20. 1901.

Joel Moore, the youngest of the family, was born at Carman, Illinois. May, 27. 1879. He improved his oportunities at school and learned very rapidly, and graduated at an early age. He was very fond of music and made a success of playing the mandolin. He was a clerk in a large department store at Oberlin, Kan. for a time. Then he learned the art of sign painting and window trimming, at which he is very successful, being constantly employed at the business at very good wages. On the 4th of May, 1903, he married Miss Emma M. Corzelous, of Kansas City, Mo. where they now live.

Harriett E Van Hoosen.

Harriett Elizabeth Moore, was born January 1st 1844. in Livingston Co. Michigan. She was moved about with her parents until they settled in Henderson Co. Illinois. where she spent her girlhood days going to school and helping her mother do the house-work for a large family of children.

Soon after the war she became acquainted with Jerome B. VanHoosen, who was born June 15th 1838. at Sparta, Osage Co. N. Y. He came with his parents to Hancock Co. Ill. in 1845. At the age of 19 he went to California where he resided ten years, then enlisted as a Volunteer in Captain William C. Manning's Company L. 2nd Mass. Cavalery. was enrolled Feb. 10 1863. at Sanfrancisco, Cal.

He enlisted as a blacksmith under Gen Sheridan fighting Mosby's Guerrillas. Out of 500 men sent out, only 182 returned. He was home once on a sick furlough and visited his parents in Ill.

He also took part in Campaigns of Gettysburg, Early's Defeat, Capture of Richmond, and Surrender of Lee. He was hurt at Vianna, Va. by a horse falling on him while shoeing.

Jerome B. Valhcosøn, and Harriett E. Moore was married June 2, 1868. at Terre Haute, Ill. where they lived until Sep. 1872. when they moved by wagon, to Nebraska and settled on a homestead in Polk Co. and lived in their little sod house eighteen months. Then came the terrible Grasshopper raid, and they were forced to return to Ill.

Then in 1876 they went again to Merrick Co. Neb. and lived on a rented farm until the fall of 1882 they bought a farm of 160 acres about two miles west of Central City, for which they paid $1200. and the same year they built a barn, costing $400 and a large frame house of seven rooms, costing $1800. making a beautiful home within a few rods of the U. P. Railroad with the public school house located on one corner of their farm. In the Spring of 1884 their barn burned with all that was in it. Being fully insured they received $303. for barn and contents, and the same year built another, costing $600. .

In the year of 1888 they sold their home for $4500. and visited their parents in Illinois, and returning to Neb. they lived in Central City for a short time then moved by rail with their seven children, to Corvallis, Benton Co. Oregon. where they bought a nice place in the suburbs of the city. On Aug. 18. 1899 Jerome, whose health had been failing for some time, died at the age of sixty three years, from the effects of a wound received while in the war.

In 1879 he applied for a pension and received $6 a month until 1887 it was increased to $30. which afterwards was raised to $72. per month, which amount he received until his death. he left a wife and six children to mourn the loss of a loving husband and kind father. to them were born eight children as follows.

Ebba J. Moore, Born Dec. 15 1862.
Died Feb. 9 1863.

J. S. Moore

In speaking of myself, there is nothing noteworthy to say. Born Jan. 30 1865. I was named for two great men, Ulysses Sherman, two heros of the day, which proves there is nothing in a name. I was too stupid to obtain much of an education. I never studied grammer in any form, which accounts for so many grammatical errors. I was born, grew up and have always lived on the old home.

Three years after my fathers death, the old home was placed in court at Oquawka Ill. to be sold at partition sale on April 20 1889. where I. being the highest bidder, bought the old homestead consisting of 117 acres, for $2650.

Having no money to pay down, I bought heirs shares to the amount of $604. and borrowed $313 from my mother, then gave a mortgage on the land for the balance of $1734. at 8% intrest, payable to Mathew Vaughn.

Owing to fathers long illness, the old place was so badly run down it took several years, with my limited means, to rebuild fences and make other necessary improvements. I brought into cultivation about twenty acres of heavy timber land which required lots of hard labor, but paid for it with the years of good crops.

At the age of twenty-seven years, I married Annettie S. Reed, age twenty-two, Sep. 15 1892 at the home of the brides parents, on Prairie Island, Merrick Co. Neb. Rev C. Hamilton, officiating We went on a visit to Nettie's relatives at Crawford Neb. Returning, we started for Ill. arriving home Oct. 1.

Then came the long hard struggle of paying for and improving the old home. During the fifteen years we paid $1496 in interest on the mortgage alone. We practically payed for the old place by growing corn for market, the banner crop being in 1902, which averaged 50 bushels per acre on 63 acres, for which we received 35 cents a bushel the highest price received during the time.

The lowest price being in 1897 of 16½ cents during that year we sold 2272 bushels at average of 18¾ cents. The average price for the 15 years was 31 cents the year 1901 was our lightest crop making 300 bushels on 55 acres. The average price received for hogs was 4½ cents per lb.

Annettie S. Reed was born July 16 1870. in Ottawa Co. Mich. her father, Harlow Reed. born May 2 1823. at Hartford Conn. his mother died when he was young. his father married again.

Harlow Reed married Fidelia Griffin Apr 18 1847. she was born Oct. 8 1829. at Hartford Conn. They lived in Conn. Ohio. and Mich. until 1872 when they started to Neb.

Taking boat at South Haven intending to land at Chicago but the awful storm that swept the great lake that night drove them out of their course until they were near Milwaukee Wis the next morning. a number of boats were sunk and many lives lost in that storm. but their boat landed in Chicago the next day, safe.

They traveled on from there by rail, to Central City Neb. and settled on Prairie Island in Oct. 1872. Fidelia S. Reed died Feb. 24 1879. and Aug 5 1882. Harlow Reed married Marrilla Griffith with whom he afterwards parted. and went to live with his son Maurice, where he died Mar 24 1908,

To Harlow Reed's first marriage, there were born ten children, as follows.

William H. Reed, June 9 1848. he married Miss Florence Bovee Sep. 7 1870. their son Oscar P. was born Sep. 7 1871. at Dorr Allegan Co. Mich they went to Neb. and lived there until the death of his wife June 24 1874. when he went to Wyo. and engaged in the vocation of collecting geological specimens, and has made some valuable collections. many of which may be seen at some of the great museums, and at the University of Wyo. where he is now employed as Curator.

He was married the second time to Miss Anna Clark, of Ohio. Sep. 11 1880. they have two children born as follows, Anna Dorothy. Aug. 27 1881. at Carbon, Wyo. William H. April 27 1883. at Como Wyo. Oscar went to Wyo, when his father married again, he is now engaged in the cattle business and owns a valuable ranch in Carbon Co.

Ella A. Reed, born Aug 22 1850. and John Clark, born Feb. 7 1839. both of Jamestown Mich.

was married Aug. 20 1868. at Kalamazoo, Mich. They have five children born as follows, Oscar M. Dec. 4 1869. Carrie E. Sep. 20 1872. Martin L. June 21 1875. Harlow V. Dec, 15 1876, Laura M. Feb, 7 1881, they are all married and have children. Carrie E, who was Mrs Stander, died near Plattsmouth Neb. she had a large family. Mr and Mrs Clark now live at Fleak, N, D.

Henry R, Reed born Sep, 12 1852, he married Hannah Bovee about 1873 at the old home in Neb to them were born 12 children. they settled in northwestern Neb, he died March 24 1901.

Laura E, Reed, born Dec, 25 1854, married to Wm E. Phelps at Central City Neb, they have four children as follows Wilbur W, Lucy F, Raymond R, and Eugene B. all are married, Augustus E, Reed, born Dec, 6 1856, he never married and is running loose in Wyoming, Clarence B, Reed born March 18 1858. he died July 14 1881. caused from striking his head against a rock while in swimming at Como Wyo.

Maurice H. Reed, born June 10 1859. he married Mrs Myra J. (Boyce) Miller, they live in Dawes Co. Neb. where he owns a valuable ranch they have two children, Ra'ph and Earl.

Eugene C. Feed, born Sep. 11 1861. married Miss Mary Harris, they have three children as follows, Harris, Adelia and Jenette. they live in Dawes Co. Neb. where he owns a farm.

Alburtus U. Reed, born March 5 1868. he married Miss C. Eva Brown they have six children. they have traveled around considerable, but now live at Basin Wyo.

On Aug. 11 1902. we started on a visit among relatives, traveling with a team of horses hitched to a spring wagon fitted up for the purpose. We traveled across Iowa, then along the Platte river as far as Kerney Neb. then southwest to Harlan Co. then back by Hastings to Grand Island, and from there home on nearly the same route we went. traveling about 1400 miles. We was gone three months. Nettie was almost an invalid when we started, but she gained 18 pounds in weight during the trip.

In Nov. 1903. we adopted a boy baby, nine months old. He was born Feb. 2 1903. we named him E. Linwood Moore.

In the Spring of 1904, we finished paying off the mortgage and all other debts, so that the old home was once more free of debt.

In Nov. 1904. we visited the Worlds Fair at St. Louis Mo. where I purchased a saw mill which was on exhibition there. and during the Winter of 1905 - 6, we cut a lot of hard wood lumber from logs cut on the o'd place.

In the Spring 1909 we began preparations for building a new house, carefully taking down the old house, we run all the old lumber through a planeing mill, also the hard wood lumber. We built on the old foundation, my brother Frank superintending the work from plans I had drawn

In Sep. 1909 we adopted a baby girl, five weeks old, we named her Lela. she was born Aug 12.

HOME of U. S. MOORE. Lomax, III.

THREE BROTHERS EXPERIENCE IN THE CIVIL WAR.

GIVEN IN THEIR OWN WORDS.

Eadward A. Moore, Being first to Enlist.

On Aug. 20 1861 I enlisted as a soldier in the service of the U. S. Army. I served in the 10th Illinois Volunteer Infantry. We were sent to Cairo Ill. to join our Regiment, where we were mustered, examined and sworn in the Regt. as Company E. and the next day I was appointed Corporal. When our Regt. was fully organized we was sent up the Mississippi river to Mound City to guard 3 Gun Boats that was being built there. We lay at Mound City ten months, about three months of the time I was down with the measles, I was placed on duty too soon, on a rainy day, and the measles settled on my lungs, and I lost my voice, which I did not regain until the warm days of Spring.

In the Spring of 1862 we was sent to Birds Point Mo. while there our Company went on a two days scout after Jef Tompson, we routed him out of the swamps and came back to Birds Point. About three weeks after this we marched to New Madrid to reinforce the troops that was bombarding Island No. 10, we took part in the bombardment, and after the rebels evacuated New Madrid I was in the forced march to Tiptonville to head off the rebel army, which we did, and captured 6000 men and as many stand of arms, with 18 pieces of artillery.

After placing our prisoners on boats and starting them off for Rock Island, we returned to New Madrid. We lay there about three days, then we went down the river on steam boats, to reinforce the troops at Fort Pillow, but before we reached there, we got orders to go back and report to Gen Grant at Shiloh. arriving there on Friday after the battle.

We took part in the bombardment of Pulaski and the battle of Cornith May 27 1862. We was in the battle of Iuka Sep. 19. We then marched to Nashvil'e Tenn. and on Dec. 31 and Jan. 2, we took part in the battle of Murfreesborough.

We lay in Nashville ten months, to hold that point. while there, we, the 10 th Illinois, built Fort Negley, on Negley Hill, We was releived of this post by some eastern troops, and we went to Rossville Ga. where on Dec, 31 1863 we was discharged, mustered out. and remustered into the service again, and received Vettran Furloughs for 30 days and went home. When the time was up we returned to our Regt. which was then camped at Rössville Ga. On my arrival there I was promoted from Corporal to Sargent, in which capacity I served until the close of the war.

As soon as the veterans had all returned, we was pushed on in the direction of Atlanta Ga. We took an active part in all Skirmishes and a part of the battles along the rout. We fought at Buzzard Roost Gap. Peach Tree and Pumpkin Vine Creeks. Resaca. Chattanooga. Lookout Mountain. Mission Ridge. Kennasaw Mountain. and Atlanta

After we had captured Chattanooga, Lookout Mountain, and Missionary Ridge. we, the 10th, and 16th. Illinois Regiments was sent in pursuit of the rebels. we followed them about ten miles, and captured a part of their rear guards then returned to Chattanooga, where we lay in camp a week to recruit. We were then ordered at forced march, to Knoxville Ky. a distance of 180 miles, to reinforce Gen. Burnside's. When we were within 20 miles of Knoxville the rebel Gen. heard of the reinforcements coming and retreated into Virginia. We was then ordered back to Chattanooga, where we lay about a week and then pushed on in the direction of Atlanta. The march from Chattanooga to Atlanta was almost a continuous battlefield.

On the 14th of Nov. we burned Atlanta and began the famous March to the Sea, more than 250 miles away, with 60000 men. We entered Savannah on the morning of Dec. 21 1864.

After a stay of about a month at Savannah, our division took transportation on board a steamer and went by water to Hilton Head S. C. from there we marched by the way of Charleston S. C. to Raleigh N. C. arriving there April 13. This was the end of the great march. A short time after this the southern army surrendered to Gen Grant. After this we was ordered to march to Washington to pass a final grand Review of the Union Army, We were at Washington about four weeks, and then was sent to Louisville Ky. where we was mustered out of the service on the 4th day of July. We stayed at Louisville about two weeks, when we was sent to Chicago Ill. where we received our discharge on the 17th. day of July 1865. and we was free to go home.

I stayed in Chicago about a week and arrived home on the 26th. I was then confronted with the problem of making a home. I had given four years of the prime of my life to the service of the country. Patriotically, I am proud of it. Financially, I see my mistake. Those who did not respond to their countrys call, but remained at home and reaped the harvest of high prices of crops, brought about by the war, was allready on the road to wealth.

I struggled along, and when my health began to fail I obtained a pension of $ 6.00 per month. I am now an old man, my health is broken down. I shall soon answer the last great roll call.

Eadward A. Moore.

was mustered into the U. S. service as Company B. on the 8th of Sep. 1862. We was drilled; and guarded prisoners there until Oct. 1. when we were shipped by rail to camp Jo Holt Ind. then we marched across the Ohio river on a pontoon bridge, and through Louisville Ky. to camp Oakland, and from there to Shepherdsville, 30 miles south. We lay in camp here until the 14th. then marched 60 miles farther south where we scouted, and skirmished, with rebel Gen. John Morgans forces. Then guarded railroad bridges until the 25th. when our Co. with Co's A. and C. was sent back to Shepherdsville, where we expected to stay all winter, but on Dec. 9 we marched south along the L. and N. Railroad.

Five Co's of our Regt. was left at Elizabethtown. Our Co. was sent 14 miles south to Bacon Creek, where we worked hard to strengthen our Stockade and prepare for winter. But on the 26th of Dec. our guards was driven in, and we was completely surrounded by Gen. John Morgans forces, consisting of five Regiments of Mounted Infantry, and five pieces of Light Artillery. We had 64 men in the Stockade. A flag of truce was sent in to us, with a demand to surrender. but we would not; and fought them five hours.

We then surrendered on conditions. Having none killed and but five wounded. I received a shot over my left ear, thought at first to be serious, but proved to be only slight. For fear of being re-captured; they did not undertake to get us to Libby or Andersonville prisons, so they disarmed us, and turned us loose on parole, of which the following is a duplicate.

Headquarters, Army of Ky.

Harden Co. Ky.

Dec. 26 1862.

Wm H. Moore private Co. B. 91 st Regt Ill. Vol. Having this day been taken prisoner by the Confederate States forces, is released on parole, on the conditions agreed upon in the Cartel regulating the exchange of prisoners between the United States and Confederate States.

By Command, Gen. Morgan.

The next day we followed the rebel army until we came to Elizabethtown, where 8 Co's of our Regt. had concentrated; and stood them a fight. Several of our men were killed.

We were on a hill-top where we could see both armys fighting: about sunset we could see our men hit the white flag and surrender. Then Gen. Morgan had us shut up in the measles hospital, and we were all exposed.

Early Sunday morning, Dec. 28 th. we started for Louisville Ky. a distance of 100 miles, with no money or food. By begging and ferraging we arrived at Louisville by noon of the 30 th. Then we crossed the river to New Albany and took the cars and went home.

I was home about six weeks, then I went back to my Regt. Benton Barrack, St. Louis Mo. There to await the exchange of prisoners of war which was made the first of June 1863.

About July 7 we went on board transport boats for Vicksburg, where we landed on the 16th and camped until the 23 rd. when we boarded transports and moved down the river to Port Hudson, where we camped until Aug. 6th. when we went to guard the 1st Ind. heavy artillery of 100 wagons, to Baton Rouge. we then returned to Port Hudson.

On Aug. 12 1863 we boarded the transports and moved down the river to Carrollton Miss. There were 15 steamers in line, and the fog was so heavy we could not see the boat ahead or behind us, the length of a boat apart. We camped about one mile North of New Orleans.

While there our troops were reviewed once by Gen. Banks. and twice by Gen. U. S. Grant. This is the only time I saw Gen. Grant.

After this, quite an army, with Gen. Herron in command, was sent by transports, up the river to Morganza La. where we fought the battle of the Atchafalla River. The first days fighting was in the Cyprus Swamps. The weather was very hot; we was without water so long and when we did get water it was very bad, and I drank too much, which started a diarrhoea, which in spite of the Doctors lasted three months.

Oct. 10 1863 we was sent back to New Orleans to recruit, until the Red River Expedition in which we took a part. On the 23rd we was put on board Gulf Steamers. We was a detachment of the Red River Expedition sent to cut off the rebel supplies from foreign nations.

There was 32 boats in the fleet. we encountered a bad storm and two boats were wrecked and sunk. I was very seasick for 8 days which completely cured me of the diarrhoea

We landed on Brazos Island. From there we marched 40 miles up the river to old Ft. Brown. We remained here on Garrison duty until about the middle of July 1864 when we left Brownsville and came back to Brazos Island, where we stayed until Christmas day, when our Regt was put on board a Gulf Steamer and sent back to New Orleans.

While at Brownsville our Chaplin held a series of meetings and I gave my heart to God. While here I witnessed the execution of a soldier for desertion. I enjoyed the trip back to New Orleans very much. We stayed in the City six weeks on Provost duty.

Then we went to Lake Ponchartrain and took boats and went to the mouth of Mobile Bay and went in camp three days at Navy Cove. Then began that difficult march around the East side of Mobile Bay to Spanish Fort before Mobile, where we engaged in a 13 days Siege and took the fort. Then we crossed the Bay and marched through Mobile to Whistler Station, where we overtook the enemy and had quite a fight.

From there we went up the Mobile River to Nina Hubba Bluffs and camped a few days. we was there when Lincoln was assassinated. Then we moved on up the Tombigby river to McIntosh Bluff, there we lay in camp until the surrender of Dick Taylor and Gen. Lee. and war was over.

When the rebel gun boats and transports came along our men took charge of the fleet. and got aboard the boats and came to Mobile and camped at Whistler Station. While there I saw the explosion of the Magazine that contained all the amunition that Dick Taylor had surrendered. the shock was so great it leveled three blocks, broke every window in the city, and brought horses to their knees in our camp $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles away.

We were mustered out of the service July 11 1865 at Mobile. Then we went to New Orleans and took boats for Cario Ill. and by rail to Camp Butler. Where I was mustered into the service 3 years before. There I got my final discharge and started home; Home once more. with father. mother, brothers, sisters, and friends, Oh! the joy!

When I look over that three years of my soldier life it seems like only a dream.

William H. Moore.

Samuell F. Moore.

When my brother Eadward enlisted as a soldier, I had a great desire to join in the conflict for the preservation of the Union. But being only 13 years old, I had to remain home awhile longer.

Then in 1862 when brother William enlisted the flame of patriotism again flashed up, and I resolved to enter into the service at the first opportunity; which privilege was refused me until brother Edward came home on veteran furlough I succeeded in enlisting in Co. E. Ill. Regt. Vol. Infantry; Jan. 16 1864, at Oquawka Ill. and was mustered in as a U. S. Soldier Being 15½ years old.

When the army broke camp near the Chat-tahooche river to move on Atlanta I was taken sick with Typhoid fever, and was taken by Am-bulance to the division field Hospital, July 17th and the next day I was put aboard an old box car and was taken to the General Field Hospital at Chattanooga Tenn. I remained there several days Then I was again put in a box car with as many others as could be put in; But this time there was a whole train load of sick and wounded; In the car I was in some would pray and moan and groan with pain; and others would moan, groan and swear; but before we got to Nashville I be-came unconscious; and when I recovered consc-iousness I found myself in the first division 3rd ward, general hospital, No. 19 Nashville Tenn. Where I remained under doctors care until I had recovered enough to be able for light duty, when I was detailed as assistant nurse. I served in this capacity until about Nov. 1 1864.

Then came an order from Sherman, for all who was able for duty, to report; Accordingly about 800 of us started for the front; but when we got to Chattanooga, we was ordered to go into camp; where 50 of us was detailed to guard a Military Prison; to prevent the prisoners escaping, and take them out in turns to work.

We remained on guard duty there until Feb 1st 1865 when Sherman again ordered us to the front. So we were organized in Co's and Battalions, with 100 men in a Company and 10 Co's in a Battalion; with such officers as was available, in command.

About Feb. 15th we started to join Shermans army; going by rail to Nashville Tenn. then to Louisville Ky. and from there by steamboat up the Ohio river to Cincinnati. then by rail to Pittsburg Pa. and to Annapolis Md. arriving there Feb. 26th. We stayed there until Monday March 5, we went aboard the large ocean Steamship, New York, and started for Beaufort N. C. about 36 hours run; but Monday night we encountered a violent storm which lasted until noon the next day; The ship became unmanagable and was driven South until we were below Savannah.

It was Saturday evening when we got back in sight of the harbor of Peaufort; and Sunday March 13 we were piloted in, and we got off the vessel and camped for the night.

Then we went by rail to Kingston to take part in a battle that was fought there; We remained there a few days after the battle, then we marched to Goldsborough N. C. There we met Sherman's army, and joined our own Regiment.

We remained here until April then marched to Raleigh, where Sherman received the surrender of Johnston's army, and the war came to a close. We then marched to Washington, where in May the war-worn Union Veterans 65 000 in number, with their faded uniforms and tattered banners, passed in Grand Review through the streets of the National Capitol.

We then disbanded, and we went to Louisville Ky. and was mustered out of the service July 4th. Then we went to Chicago and received our discharge on the 17th day of July 1865. We was then free to go home.

Samuell F. Moore.

The glorious Union shall not perish!
Precious legacy of our fathers, it shall go down honored and cherished to our children.

—Everett,

Upon a nations grateful heart,
They're written down by memory's pen;
And time shall never dare erase
The deeds of patriotic men.

—Barker,

The following is a copy of a letter written to John Bennett by his brother Samuell.

Ipswich, England, July 4 1859

Dear Brother :- I received your letter, and we was glad to hear, you and all, was so well as you were; and we hope these few lines will find you and all quite well; as it leaves me and my wife, except old age, and that gets a hold of us both,

I wrote and tried to find your daughter Eliza, But I am sorry to say, I cannot hear anything about her. I could not find neither her husband nor his father; and I had the letters come back to me that I sent; and they think, and so do I, that she must be somewhere near you, for we don't think she is in England; and we think you had better have her put in the papers, and that will find her.

I am sorry to tell you brother James of Bramford, is dead; he was taken ill last April, and died June 24th. he was doing much the same as when you left and did up to the time of his death; his wife and family send their love to you all, and they are all well. Their sons, George and James, left home four years ago. and have not heard of them since.

Hannen married to Abbatt, of Sproughton, that you did work with, he is game keeper at Nacton Hall, near Ipswich. I am sorry I cannot tell you much about my son Samuell, he went away with a traveling family, and the last time I heard of him, that is about 18 months ago, he was at California. John Layton is dead, and his widow lives with her son in the same house that you lived in at Emsett. Hannens step-son is living in the same place.

Robert Orbarn's wife is very ill, and all send their love. Charles Brown's daughter would like to come over, but she says it costs so much.

John Hill sends his love to all. I cannot say any thing about the Browns, I have not seen them since your brother was burried the 2^dth of June.

My son Henry is in Londen and is doing well and is quite well. Our kind love to all, and remain your Brother and Sister — Bennett.

S. Bennett,

6 Lady Lane

Ipswich.

When you write let me know if you have heard of your daughter Eliza.
